

Terms of Use

Effective as of 22 July 2024

Welcome to the AmCham EU website. Please read and review these Terms of Use carefully. By accessing or using this website, you acknowledge that you have read, understood and agreed, without limitation or qualification, to the Terms of Use. If you do not agree to the Terms of Use, you are asked not to access or use this website.

1. Use of website. This website provides information and services to our member companies, external stakeholders and the general public. Certain sections of this website are intended for particular audiences such as our member companies and other external shareholders.

2. Content. AmCham EU will make reasonable efforts to include accurate and up-to-date information on this website but makes no warranties or representations of any kind as to its accuracy, currency or completeness. You agree that access to and use of this website and the content thereof is at your own risk. AmCham EU disclaims all warranties, express or implied, including warranties of merchantability or fitness for a particular purpose. Neither AmCham EU nor any party involved in creating, producing or delivering this website shall be held liable for any damages. This applies without limitation to direct, incidental, consequential, indirect or punitive damages, arising out of access to, use of or inability to use this website, or any errors, omissions in the content thereof. This is also valid for damages to, or for any viruses that infect, your computer equipment.

3. Indemnification. You agree to indemnify, defend and hold harmless AmCham EU, its advisers, directors, employees, members, suppliers and third-party partners from and against all losses, expenses, damages and costs, including reasonable attorneys' fees, resulting from any violation by you of these Terms of Use.

4. Privacy. AmCham EU respects the privacy of its website users. Please refer to AmCham EU's Privacy Policy that explains users' rights and responsibilities with regards to the information on the website.

5. Accounts, passwords and security. If any of the services provided on this website requires you to register with your contact details, you must complete the registration process by providing and maintaining current, accurate and complete information as requested on the new member registration form and maintaining the strict confidentiality of your password.

If AmCham EU has provided you with member login information, be advised that such login information is confidential and proprietary to AmCham EU. You are not authorised to share any information you view, download or use from the restricted members' area. If you are using this website on behalf of your employer, you accept these Terms of Use on your employer's behalf. You are the only person authorised to use your login information, and you are solely responsible for maintaining the confidentiality of your password. You acknowledge and agree that certain services may require password-restricted access.

You are fully responsible for all activities occurring once you have logged-in. You agree to notify AmCham EU immediately of any unauthorised use of your account or password or any other breach of security and ensure that you log-off at the end of each session. AmCham EU is not responsible or liable for any loss or damage that may occur as a result of someone else using your password or account, either with or without your knowledge. However, you could be held liable for losses incurred by AmCham EU or any other party due to someone else using your account or password. You are not allowed to use anyone else's account. AmCham EU reserves the right to terminate your access to this website should AmCham EU in its sole discretion consider your use of this website to be inappropriate. Upon termination of your access to this website, you must destroy all materials obtained from this website which permits identification of any individual.

6. Third-party websites and links. This website may contain links or references to other websites maintained by third-parties over whom AmCham EU has no control. Such links are provided merely as a convenience. At the same time, this website may be accessed from third-party links over whom AmCham EU has no control. AmCham EU makes no warranties or representations of any kind as to the accuracy, currency, or completeness of any information on such website and shall have no liability for any damages or injuries of any kind arising from such content. Inclusion of any third-party link does not imply an endorsement or recommendation by AmCham EU.

7. Non-confidential information. Any communication or other material that you email to us such as any questions, comments or suggestions is and will be deemed to be non-confidential. AmCham EU shall have no obligation of any kind with respect to such information. AmCham EU shall be free to use any ideas, concepts, know-how or techniques mentioned in such communication.

8. Trademarks. All product names, whether or not appearing in large print or with the trademark symbol, are trademarks of AmCham EU, unless otherwise noted. The use or misuse of these trademarks or any other materials, except as permitted herein, is expressly prohibited and may be in violation of copyright law, trademark law, the law of slander and libel, the law of privacy and publicity, and communications regulations and statutes. Please be advised that AmCham EU actively enforces its intellectual property rights to the fullest extent of the law.

9. Copyrights. The content of AmCham EU website may not be copied other than for non-commercial individual reference with all copyright or other proprietary notices retained, and thereafter may not be recopied, reproduced or otherwise redistributed. Apart from this, without the express written consent of AmCham EU, you may not otherwise copy, display, download, distribute, modify, reproduce, republish or retransmit any information, text or documents from this website neither electronically or in hard copy. Moreover, you may not create any derivative work based on such images, text or documents without the express written consent of AmCham EU.

10. Void where prohibited. Any information and services provided on this website are void where prohibited. This website and its contents are intended to comply with the laws and regulations in Belgium and the relevant European directives. Other countries may have laws and regulatory requirements that differ from those in Belgium and the European Union. This website contains links to other websites, some of which may be outside Belgium and the European Union. Those websites may include information that is appropriate only in that particular originating country. AmCham EU reserves the right to limit provision of its services to any person, geographic region and/or to limit the services we provide.

11. Governing laws. These Terms of Use and your use of the website shall be governed by the laws of Belgium without regard to its conflicts of laws principles.

12. Miscellaneous. If any provision of these Terms of Use is held to be unlawful, void or unenforceable, then such provision shall be severable without affecting the enforceability of all remaining provisions. AmCham EU reserves the right to alter or delete materials from this website at any time at its discretion.

AmCham EU may revise at any time these Terms of Use. We will notify you by placing a prominent notice on our website.

Membership Fee Guidelines

The membership fee is payable upon receipt of an invoice. Any member whose membership fee remains unpaid for a period of thirty days or more after receipt of a second payment reminder the member will receive with the 3rd reminder an additional late payment fee and remains liable for payment of dues for that year.

Membership automatically renews on the 1st of January. A member wishing to resign must send notice in writing by post, courier, or email. Notification of resignation must be received by the American Chamber of Commerce to the EU no later than 30 September prior to the upcoming year you wish to resign. If such notification of resignation is not timely received, the member remains on the membership list and is liable for payment of dues for the subsequent year.

In no event does any resignation or exclusion of any member entitle such member to any assets of the Chamber nor to any refund of dues already paid.

For inquiries or support, please contact our membership team via [membership\[at\]amchameu.eu](mailto:membership[at]amchameu.eu).